HONGKONG, May 1st, 1900.

AMONG the many inconveniences borne by the Hongkong resident, apart from the harassing conditions of climate, may be classed the inferior quality of butchers' meat that forms part of his daily fare. So accustomed has he become to the cocoa-nut fibre of the tissue and the saw-dust flavour of its meagre juices that he accepts the want of quality in the butchers' meat with stoical resignation, dines on make-believe mutton, puts everything down to the climate and never pauses to ask whether such a condition of affairs can be remedied, and meat somewhat of the flavour of butchers' meat in England can possibly be placed upon his table. But the Hongkong resident need not carry his memory back to the time when he sojourned in England or enjoyed a well-spent holiday there to be reminded of succulent juices; a trip to Shanghai and its gastric reminiscences will prove equally effective. The truth is that full-flavoured mutton is unknown in Hongkong, while in Shanghai it is all that the palate can desire. Whence this difference? We are aware that to obtain the fullest and richest flavour of mutton the joint should be hung for some time, a course of procedure in Hongkong, certainly in the summer season, not permissible, but even in the cool season when the joint may, with watching, be hung for several days, the flavour and nutriment of the Hongkong mutton is far inferior to that of meat in the Northern port. And the cause to our mind is not far to seek.

The importation of cattle and sheep, their slaughter and exposure of the meat for sale, are dealt with in "The Cattle Diseases, Slaughter Houses and Market Ordinance" of 1887, and the Bye-laws enacted thereunder. The Ordinance itself is a most excellent one, and from the frequent Bye-laws made under this Ordinance it is perfectly clear that the Government is fully alive to the necessity of endeavouring to furnish to the residents of the colony good and wholesome meat. Under the Bye-laws all cattle and sheep must be landed at certain wharves and between certain specified hours, while schedule A section 3 of the Ordinance reads as follows:—"All cattle and sheep imported into the colony shall be forthwith inspected and duly marked by an Inspector of Live-stock, and any animal which he finds to be diseased or which he may suspect to be suffering from disease shall be placed in segregation and under observation at the depôts set apart for the purpose at Kennedy Town and Yaumati." Schedule B section 2 provides for the marking of cattle and sheep before slaughter and is in the following terms:—"No cattle or sheep shall be admitted into the slaughter house except those that have been marked within the previous twenty-four hours by an Inspector of Live-stock as being fit for slaughtering for human food." The regulations respecting markets are equally clear and precise. Registration of all market-holders and the due cleanliness of their stalls is provided for, while no flesh meat other than that which has been slaughtered in the slaughter-houses of the colony can be exposed for sale in any market till it has been inspected by an Inspector of Markets and marked by him as being fit for human food.

It is clear, therefore, that when once cattle and sheep have arrived in the colony every precaution is taken and every effort made to expose for sale good wholesome food. The whole of the legislature of the Hongkong Government with respect to the meat-supply appears to us to have been exclusively devoted to cattle and sheep immediately on their landing and subsequently, and totally to ignore the voyage and approach of such animals to the colony before their disembarkation—for we are not aware of any regulations existing in this colony similar to those of the Board of Trade in England, which control the stalling and tending of cattle and sheep while on a voyage and which tend so much to their well-being, security and comfort and to the landing of them in good condition at the port of their destination.

It is a notorious fact that animals of all kinds deteriorate on a voyage, and if neglected particularly so. Sheep which are slaughtered in Shanghai and sheep which are slaughtered in Hongkong are fed on the same pastures and tended with the same care. But what a difference in the quality of the meat! A difference which in some small measure is doubtless due to the voyage, but is mainly due to the neglect with which the animals are treated on the trip down. All the wise regulations of the ordinance above quoted and the bye-laws enacted thereunder cannot bring up the quality of the meat, or restore the sheep to anything like the condition they were in previous to their embarkation at Shanghai. On the voyage they receive no system tic care. No one is specially appointed to tend to the sheep, unless, perhaps, it be the quartermaster, who throws them a little hay once a day and give to the more vigorous a drink of water. The sick are left to perish. The mortality in bad weather is great and even in fine weather the sheep land in Hongkong the ghosts of their former selves. Cruelty, negligent cruelty, exists somewhere. Someone is responsible for much misery to thousands of dumb creatures annually. Is it the Government, the shipper or the shipowner? There is need, urgent need, for legislation in this matter. We have often wondered that there exists no Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in Hongkong similar to such as exist in Shanghai and Singapore. The fact is that Hongkong is behind the times. Everybody seems too intent on money-making and has no thoughts for philanthropy or for the care of these dumb animals that appeal to our mercy. As the Commission for the Enquiry into the Costs of Commodities in Hongkong is now sitting, the present seems a favourable moment for bringing the Cattle and Sheep Trade before the notice of the public, for by wise regulations of shipowners in this matter the mortality among sheep may be decreased, thus enabling mutton to be sold at a reasonable price in Hongkong, and the quality of the flesh improved.

Writing in Le Courrier d'Haiphong, L. G. says that a French merchant just arrived from Kwangchauwan told him that there was every inducement there to buy goods, etc., from Hongkong, as everything was cheaper, and also the difficulty of communication between Kwangchauwan and Haiphong remained so great, for instance, could be got at the former place for two cents while in Haiphong it cost six. Obviously the French system requires reform. "We must show," says L. G., "that we can give better quality at the same price as the English at Hongkong. Let Kwangchauwan remain a free port, but let our merchants pay heed to the commercial situation as we put it before them."

A naval expert, talking to a representative of the Jimmin, takes a very confident view of his country's capacity for defence. He thinks that England is the only Power Japan need fear at sea. The Japanese fleet is much stronger than anything Russia could send against her, and, even if France joined in the fray, she dare not reduce her fleet in home waters sufficiently to be really formidable to Japan. He evidently has a great admiration for the methods pursued in the British navy and is convinced that no other service is in such a condition of efficiency. He is also persuaded that the Japanese fleet could easily seal the seas of China and Japan if the occasion for such a measure arose.

A North China Daily News correspondent writes from Weihsien, Shantung:—"With the renewed efforts of the German Railway Syndicate to push the work of construction through Kuomi come renewed hostilities on the part of the people, which culminated on the 10th ult. in a brush between the Chinese military and the anti-railway faction. Several were killed, and, it is said, among them a man from the western border of the province, who had come to Kuomi to organise a new chapter of the Big Knife Society. The serio-comic side of it was that this leader boasted that he was bullet-proof, and to demonstrate it marched into the fray and (of course) was shot. His constituency lost faith in his promises and scattered. At the time of this affray three German engineers were stationed at Changhing, 50 li north-west of Kuomi city. A military officer hastened with a small force of troops to warn the foreigners of the trouble. Two of the engineers, Mr. Boyes and Mr. Mattiat, came to this city and the third returned to Tsingtao. It seems that after they had gone from Changhing the [illegible] burning of foreigners they returned. How the railway is to be built in the face of the persistent opposition is gettting to be a serious question."

Pedro Alejandro Paterno, the insurgent leader, whose capture we announced yesterday in our telegram from Manila, was thus described recently in Harper's Weekly by Mr. Edwin Wildman:—"On Calle St. Roque, in the New Manila, stands Pedro Paterno's spacious house. It occupies a large section of the block, and there that I had a most interesting visit from him. On the frescoed walls hangs a life-size painting of his mother, a Chinese Mestiza. Paterno, therefore, like nearly all of the Filipino leaders, is a half-caste. For years he has actually controlled the Filipinos. That he could do no wrong was said is their belief. Spain gave him the Grand Cross, and the Filipino University of Manila the degree of LL. D. When in the first revolution Aguinaldo compromised, with damages, Spain buying out the Filipino leaders, Pedro Paterno was so well poised on the fences that he was able to draw a double commission for his services. Despite his open flickering with Spain, and his public acceptance of money from the Spanish Government, the childish confidence of the natives was unshaken. They rejoice in his Spanish-given honors, and point to him as the most eminent Filipino, which he undoubtedly is. He has published several novels and books of poetry and is the acknowledged authority on Filipino folklore. He controls Aguinaldo, writes his bombastic pronunciamentos, and is the head and spirit of the revolution. Revolutions are in his line, for he has found them profitable, and boasts of an income of $25,000 a year. His property includes real estate, business blocks, plantations and steamships, all at present netting good profits, managed and operated by his family and his agents. He, like Aguinaldo, keeps at a safe distance from the firing line, cherishing undoubtedly the cheerful prospect of returning to his inheritance. Paterno is the 'boss,' Aguinaldo the mask."

THE TROUBLE WITH CHAIR COOLIES AT THE PEAK.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS."

SIR,—I have been asked by many why I do not demand a re-hearing of the second part of the case given against me on the 27th ult. I wish to say that I have done so, and that after two days' consideration the magistrate has decided in the negative.

So far as I and others can see, the result of the case has only been to set a premium on disorderliness, and I hope we shall not have a crop of troubles springing up, like the Gorgon's teeth, under the present weak-kneed régime.

Trusting you will find space in your columns, for these few lines. I am, sir, yours very truly,

CANTON.

[FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.]

Canton, 28th April.

Some young Siamese princes now on a Chinese tour came to Canton from [illegible] port on the 26th ult. and, accompanied by their tutors [illegible] H.E. the Viceroy Li Hung-chang. They were cordially received and ushered into the large Viceregal reception room, seated according to seniority of rank, and were treated to tea and cakes after the Chinese fashion, and after a pretty long conversation departed. On their way through the long and winding streets of Canton they were not a little surprised at seeing the large number of shops and stores stocked with unique curios, embroideries, blackwood, porcelain, and chinaware, which are really well worth seeing.

It is reported that the English Government has chosen a suitable site at Wuchow to build a British Consulate on, and that all the building materials to be transported there will pass the Customs free.

For some considerable time Canton has been flooded with counterfeit coins. On the 23rd ult. general Li, of the Kwong Hip garrison, upon the information of a detective, took over 100 officers with him and went to the second ward of the West suburb near Choi Hu. They surrounded a certain house where some eight or nine persons were engaged in coining ten and twenty-cent pieces at night, and arrested them. A lot of machinery and tools were also seized, and it was referred to the Viceroy as to how they should be disposed of.

The pirate chief Wong, otherwise known as "Wong, the Flat-nosed Fish," together with his comrades, has been a source of great trouble to the junks and passenger-boats, and to the people of the locality which they infested as well. For a long time they have been buying blackmail, and have escaped apprehension and defied the action of the mandarins. On the 18th ult. as a boat laden with matting passed by Lon Chang, "the Flat nosed Fish" and his comrades, about twenty persons in all, went on board and exacted blackmail to the amount of 100 taels. The captain of the boat told him to come next day, as he had to go to the owner of the boat to get money. Meanwhile he went and reported the matter to the nearest guard-house. He got about two dozen well-armed soldiers, who went on board in disguise and concealed themselves in the hold below. Next day when Wong and his comrades came, on a signal the soldiers rushed up from the hold, and seized him and some of his comrades, others having had time to escape and one being killed.

As was said before, Jinkan was farmed out to General Li of the Kwong Hip garrison, who pays $1,200,000 per annum, besides 2 per cent. on the amount to all the civil and military officials, to the gamen runners and others who have been receiving the Jinkan squeeze before; but as this amount was evidently not enough to pay them, they were not satisfied, so they allowed gambling to be carried on in places where there are no licensed gambling houses. The gentry and neighbours who had not received their customary squeeze naturally became indignant and occasionally smashed those houses and gave trouble to the mandarins. Some merchants have proposed to the Viceroy to take away the monopoly from the General, and are willing to pay a further sum of $300,000, annually in addition to the above amount.

With reference to the attempted assassination of Lao Hok-shou, described in my last letter, there is for a rumour going about which may or may not be true, that the old and the new opium farmers are ligitating on the matter of license-fees, and that most of the opium-smokers (principally rogues and vagabonds) are dissatisfied and, hearing that Lao Hok-shou was about to take a monopoly of the opium licenses, planned and paid for the attempt to murder him.

HONGKONG GENERAL CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

SPECIAL GENERAL MEETING.

A special general meeting of the members of the Hongkong Chamber of Commerce was held at the Chamber Rooms, City Hall, to nominate a member of the Chamber to take the place of the Hon. T. H. Whitehead in the Legislative Council during his absence from the colony. Mr. R. M. Grey presided, and there were also present the Hon. J. J. Keswick, Messrs. N. A. Siebs, A. Haupt, H. Smith (Committee), R. C. Wilcox (Secretary), Hon. C. P. Chater, C.M.G., Messrs F. Maitland, D. R. Crawford, J. J. Francis, Geo. L. Tomlin, D. W. Craddock, D. Gillies, G. de Champeaux, L. Berindoague, J. Thorburn, G. T. Veitch, M. Watson, D. Haskell, J. Mackay, J. H. Lewis, R. L. Richardson, C. S. Sharp, A. M. Marshall, W. Danby, Ho Fook, A. J. Raymond, A. Shelton Hooper, Murray Stewart, F. Urbig, D. Gilmour, G. H. Potts, G. C. Moxon, D. M. Moses, and E. W. Ritter.

The CHAIRMAN said: Gentlemen,—I propose that, in accordance with our usual custom, the Report of the Committee and the Secretary's Accounts, which have been in your hands for some days, be taken as read. Our report exhibits no diminution from past years in the number of subjects with which we have to deal and, indeed, rather tends to show that the business of the Chamber is steadily increasing in quantity, and at the same time in importance. The amount of work done, however, needs no apology from me. The voice of Commerce is making itself heard every year with greater emphasis all over the world whether it be by Chambers of Commerce or Congresses, and as long as these bodies are directed by those engaged in Commerce, and only concern themselves with matters which actually affect the continuance and development of Trade, they are undoubtedly an element of good in their own sphere and, for that reason, will always command attention. The past year can hardly be called one of great progress generally in China, although many schemes have been hatched and some of them have made some strides forward, but, on the whole, the result is disappointing and not up to sanguine anticipations. In Hongkong, however, we have cause for congratulation in the extension of our boundaries to embrace a considerable addition of territory which will prove a most valuable adquisition to the colony when it has had time to find the benefit of a complete system of roads and thorough police protection, which it should be the object of this Government to provide as soon as possible, so as to give encouragement to the natives in the Hinterland to raise produce of all sorts for our markets, and to native capitalists to establish industries under the ægis of the British Flag, with the advantage of free circulation and without customs duties. We did not enter into possession without a struggle, but as one outcome of this want of faith on the part of the Chinese Authorities resulted in the abandonment of the idea of leaving the City of Kowloon in their hands, the temporary trouble resulted satisfactorily in the end. The inevitable result of the handing over of this territory was the withdrawal of the Chinese Customs stations to the new borders, and it became a question in what way the Hongkong Authorities could reasonably assist the Chinese Government in the protection of their revenue under change of circumstances. As you are aware, this Government, contemplating the establishment of Bonded Warehouses for Opium in the colony, and the provision of certain checks on Opium smuggling, brought in a Bill for this purpose. The Chamber has, however, I hope, proved conclusively to the Government that the objects in view could be as readily secured by making the Merchants' Godowns into Bonded Warehouses, by keeping an account of all Opium actually discharged in Hongkong, and also by furnishing the Chinese Customs with particulars of all permits issued for the export of Opium. In further desire to protect the Chinese Revenue an Ordinance has been passed amending the Arms and Ammunition Ordinance, by which great restrictions are placed upon the Export of Arms and Ammunition, somewhat as it is to be feared, to the detriment of the trade of the port in these articles, but the measure is certainly an honest endeavour to act fairly to the neighbouring Empire. The circulation in this colony of subsidiary coins of the Canton Mint became a subject of complaint, and was brought by the Chamber before the notice of H.E. the Governor, who appointed a committee to enquire into the question, of which I was a member. On going into the facts this committee found that, although no doubt considerable inconvenience was caused by the influx of Canton tokens, there was no legal obligation on anyone accepting them as money in this colony, while there were insuperable objections to any legislation making it illegal to be in possession of them, and if ample supplies of Hongkong subsidiary coins were always obtainable no hardship need be entailed on any one. From a perusal of the report you will see what this Chamber has been actively endeavouring to impress upon the public the Imperial Government and the Telegraph Companies concerned, the importance of securing a reduction in the tariff of charges for telegrams between the East and Europe, and with some hope of ultimate success. The question is to be brought up by our representatives at the forthcoming Congress of Chambers of Commerce of the Empire, to be held in London next June, when, no doubt, some course of action will be recommended or some decision adopted. It is imperative that, in order to march with the times, this side of the world should be in cheaper communication with the other. I may here mention that, at the same congress of Chambers of Commerce of the Empire, it has been arranged that Sir Thomas Jackson and the Hon. T. H. Whitehead, who have kindly consented to represent this Chamber there, will also put forward resolutions on the subjects of Navigation by Foreign Steamers of the Inland Waters of China, and of fresh Marine Surveys in Eastern Seas, the latter of which I think it will be generally conceded is much required. I now come to a subject which has been a theme of considerable discussion, not to say complaint, for several years, and that is the working of the Hongkong Post Office. It is a question which nearly touches us all but which, in spite of all that has been said and written, has not advanced many stages towards ideal perfection. The fact is that, although we can give credit to the management for having done its best during the past year, the accommodation of this department is admitted by every one to be wretchedly inadequate, and the staff, in my opinion, is quite insufficient. The consequence is a defective service which cannot be expected to improve until the conditions are altered. When that time will arrive it seems impossible to say, as the construction of a new Post Office is being indefinitely postponed, or at any rate will probably be delayed until the construction of the projected new Law Courts, the site for which was decided upon years ago but on which not a single life for the foundation has yet been driven. Whether this is caused by the denuded state of the P.W.D. or for any other reason, I really think that upon a subject of such urgent public importance the Government should take immediate steps to have this matter rectified. Various points of legislation came before your Committee last year. The Pier Ordinance was passed by the Government to enable them to raise the rents of Piers and Wharves, but I am glad to say that the increase first contemplated was greatly modified in consequence of the representations of the Chamber in the year preceding. The efforts of the Chamber to amend the Merchant Shipping Consolidation Ordinance were less successful although a few of its suggestions were adopted. The principal suggested alterations, which were the outcome of the careful consideration of shipping experts, were dismissed as impracticable or unnecessary, the former preferring to listen to the Government preferring to listen to the Government on its own adviser. On the other hand, attention having been directed by the Chamber to the fact that certain goods hitherto not regarded as dangerous were included in that category in the Dangerous Goods Amendment Ordinance, and the suggestion made that these goods should be continued to be excluded from the list, this suggestion was adopted by the Government. I have already referred to the Arms and Ammunition Amendment Ordinance, which was very strongly criticised by those interested in the trade and also by the public and formed in the trade and also by the public and formed the original draft of which on the representation of this Chamber, experienced considerable modification before the Bill was passed. Last year we were subject to all the restrictions and annoyances of being declared an infected port, which continued through the summer months, and it is a subject of great regret that we should find ourselves in a similar predicament again this year. The problem of how to succeed in stamping out the plague has still to be solved, although amelioration can undoubtedly be secured by strong sanitary measures. The loss caused annually to the trade of the Port from this disease is enormous. The revival for the Canton Government of the farm by the collection of the Kwong Hip [illegible] naturally led to expostulation [illegible] which I attended the last monopoly and the Chamber accordingly addressed Her Majesty's Consul at Canton on the subject. Mr. Mansfield, with his usual promptitude, had already made a protest to the Viceroy against the establishment of the Lokin Farm, and, although that Official did not admit that the Farm was an infringement of Treaty Rights, he issued stringent orders against any abuse of their position by the farmers, apparently with some success. The principle of these monopolies is, however, distinctly opposed to the spirit of the Treaties, and their establishment cannot be too strongly deprecated. That ancient grievance—it is a question of a century old—the levy of preferential duties on junk-borne cargo by the Hoppo of Canton, has again come to the front and drew from this Chamber a fresh and strong appeal to Her Majesty's Representative at Pekin. Your Committee upon this occasion, as a last resource, strongly recommended the abolition of the dual system of Customs in the Two Kwang, and Mr. Bax Ironside (then in charge) admitted that it would go to the root of the evil, but was himself naturally unable to move directly in the matter. He laid the suggestion, however, before the Foreign Office, and, I sincerely hope that when a convenient time arrives, this grain of mustard seed will develop into a goodly tree, and produce that fiscal reform which is so badly needed. When it was given out with great éclat by Lord Curzon, in the House of Commons, that China had granted the right of navigation of the inland waters to foreign vessels, it was little imagined that this concession would be turned into a farce by the interpretation placed upon the regulations by the Imperial Chinese Customs, but this is unfortunately the case and, as far as the West is concerned, foreign steamers have not benefited in the least, and the expected development in trade from the opening of the Waterways of South China to Steam Navigation has not been realised. This has naturally caused great disappointment and loss to the large shipping companies who have been induced to construct craft specially for the River Service and who have appealed in vain for a reasonable interpretation of the Regulations which would enable them to benefit by the special Concession. I trust that agitation upon this subject will be kept up in Parliament and elsewhere until the Chinese Government are induced to act up to the spirit of the arrangement instead of to the letter only. A further interference with the development of trade in the Two Kwang has been the outbreak of lawlessness and piracy under the misrule of the late Viceroy, who was probably the worst ruler these provinces have had for many years, and who allowed this state of affairs to increase to such an extent that now it has become so organized that it will require extensive measures to successfully cope with it. The attention of the Chamber was first called to the subject by the attack on the silk trade in districts not far from Canton, and a telegram was despatched early in August to the London General Chamber of Commerce pointing out the unsettled state of the provinces, the unreliability of the Viceroy, the interference with trade, and the need of more gunboats to protect our interests on the West River. We have to thank the London Chamber for at once bringing the matter before the Foreign Office, but I regret to say that the only outcome was the placing of the old Tweed, some war the placing of the old Tweed, some war torpedo boat as a reinforcement to the little Sandpiper on the West River, although this Chamber represented strongly to the Hongkong Government the inadequacy of such a force to do anything to really stem the evil. I think it most unfortunate that the Home Government did not see fit to take a serious view of the matter, instead of practically merely looking on, and doing nothing substantial to assist in preventing this crying evil from reaching its present proportions. The latest stage it that all steamers are recommended to keep to one particular channel of the West River entrances which can be easily protected from pirates. This I think is the most eloquent illustration of the present condition of the West River Delta which could be desired, and you will doubtless look with much interest for the effect of the combination between our Naval Authorities and the new Viceroy, which we are told will put down the present unfortunate state of things. Although the question of the revision of the Treaties on the point of Tariff is not included in the correspondence of the past year, I think that a few words now on the subject would not be out of place. We have the word of our Minister in Peking that no active movement is taking place on this question, and that before anything is done those most deeply interested in it will be consulted. I do not see myself how anything can possibly be done until the whole fiscal arrangements of China are altered in such a manner that we know for certain the exact duties which will be paid. With that guarantee there would be, I am sure, no opposition to a fair increase in the Tariff, which after all would probably leave foreign goods better off in that respect than they are now under the present scale of duties, the indefinite inland taxation (quite against our Treaties), and possibly in these provinces a blackmail tax as well. Until the collection of provincial taxes is merged into the business of the Foreign Customs I do not know in what direction there is the slightest possibility of any reliable guarantee being forthcoming. Another question not dealt with in the Report, but of no small interest to this port, is the Customs Tariff and Regulations in the Philippine Islands. A copy of the new Provisional Tariff and Regulations has reached this Chamber from the Acting British Consul at Manila through the Colonial Government, and this was circulated amongst the members most interested in the trade with the Philippines, but so far we have only received one or two replies. There can be no doubt that the duties levied by the American Authorities are practically the same as those imposed by the Spaniards, and the general opinion, I believe, on the part of shipowners and masters is that the Customs Regulations are even more stringent and obstructive. I understand however that there is a probability of the early departure from the United States of a Civil Commission to enquire into and institute a permanent system of Administration for the Philippines in place of the Military rule hitherto necessitated by circumstances, and it is to be hoped that their recommendations will move towards less onerous taxations and regulations, which will assist instead of interfering with the natural expansion of the trade of these fertile islands. At the Philadelphia Congress held last October, which was a great success and calculated to have valuable results among other interesting points brought forward, our representative, Mr. Townsend, dwelt strongly upon this subject and his remarks are well worth attention. The apparent omission on the part of the Dominion Minister of Customs to include Hongkong in the list of Colonies and Dependencies of the Empire entitled to the benefit of the British Preferential Duties in favour of Canada having been pointed out by the agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, your Committee have addressed the local Government on the subject, and asked His Excellency to bring the matter to the notice of the Secretary of State for the Colonies. Already a good trade has been diverted from Hongkong in consequence of this omission, and in the future such a drawback might have a far wider effect, as it is to be hoped that this matter will soon be rectified. You are aware how fully we have been represented on the Legislative Council by Mr. Whitehead, who deserves our thanks, and is now on a well-earned holiday, and in whose place for the time being is the Colonial Secretary, Mr. Herbert Smith. In regard to the Secretaryship, I cannot speak too highly of the care and attention given to the affairs of the Chamber by Mr. Wilcox, whose work, as I have before remarked, is steadily increasing and requiring more and more time and attention. (Applause). The general committee has dwindled down to five representatives, four of its members having recently gone home, three of them with the intention of returning, but Mr. McConachie, who has rendered valuable service on the committee for many years, will, I understand, remain at home. It will be for you to-day to elect a new committee as well as a chairman and vice-chairman. The retaining members of the outgoing committee have agreed to serve again if elected. The roll of members has been on for [illegible] I am glad to say, no less than 15 new members having been elected since last meeting, whose election you will be asked to confirm directly. We have lost three during the year, two by death, one of whom, Mr. Granville Sharp, we all miss here to-day. Mr. Sharp was a regular attendant at these meetings and we always listened with much interest to the trenchant expression of his views, even if we did not entirely coincide with them. I have again to remark on the still improving financial position of the Chamber. As will be observed by the statement of accounts, our Reserve Fund amounts at the end of the year to $10,000, and I am glad to inform you that this has since been increased by a donation of $2,000, taken from the balance to credit, and placed on deposit at the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank. We have had no opportunity of making use of the Pinnacle Rock Fund. Having now touched upon most points dealt with in the Report, before proposing its adoption the committee will be glad to hear remarks on these or other subjects on which any members present desire to express opinions. (Applause.)

The CHAIRMAN said:—Gentlemen, this meeting, as you are no doubt aware, has been called in consequence of the receipt of a letter from His Excellency the Officer Administering the Government, which letter I will read to you. It is as follows:—"I have the honour to inform you that I have granted to the Hon. T. H. Whitehead member of the Legislative Council, nine months' leave of absence from the 14th inst., and that there is, therefore, a vacancy in the Council which I desire should be filled up without delay by one who, like Mr. Whitehead, will represent the interests of the Chamber of Commerce. I have, therefore, to request you to be good enough to call a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce at an early date, and to submit to me the name of the gentleman whom the Chamber may desire to be appointed to the vacancy." It will be necessary for some one to be proposed and seconded. If there are more than one nominated election will be by ballot, but if only one is proposed the gentleman with your permission, will be elected by a show of hands.

The Hon. J. J. KESWICK observed—The letter from His Excellency Major-General Gascoigne, as you have heard, renders it necessary for us to elect some one to represent the Chamber in the local Legislature in the room of Mr. Whitehead, who has gone home on a well earned holiday. It will perhaps be a little difficult to find any one of so continuous energy as our worthy representative Mr. Whitehead, who during the long period which he has represented the Chamber in the Council has been untiring in his efforts for the public good. I would propose to you gentlemen, the name of a fitting successor to Mr. Whitehead, viz., Mr. Herbert Smith, the representative of Messrs Butterfield and Swire, who by his well known clearness and independence of mind, and general ability is well qualified to represent this Chamber in the Legislative Council of Hongkong. (Applause.)

The CHAIRMAN, in seconding, said—Mr. Smith's position in the colony is undeniable. I have had the pleasure of serving with him on the committee of this Chamber for a good many years, and I can testify to the great interest he has always taken in the Chamber. (Applause.)

No other name being submitted the motion was put to the vote and carried unanimously.

Mr. HERBERT SMITH, in acknowledging the compliment paid to him, said—I am deeply sensible of the honour you have done me and the firm I am privileged to represent in electing me to act as your representative on the Legislative Council of this colony. I cannot but be conscious that the eulogistic remarks of Mr. Keswick and Mr. Grey are but indifferently deserved, but you may rely upon my best efforts to voice and to worthily uphold the interests of this influential Chamber and of its members. Holding a decided opinion that our policy should be to deal with commercial matters only, I shall hope to keep this point constantly in view. Gentlemen, I thank you and shall endeavour to justify your confidence. (Applause).

The CHAIRMAN—Gentlemen, I congratulate you on the election of Mr. Herbert Smith, than whom no one better fitted could have been chosen. I now declare this meeting terminated.

ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING.

The annual general meeting of members was subsequently held for the purpose of receiving the report of the committee and passing the Secretary's accounts for the year ended 31st Dec., 1899.

There being no question or remarks on the report by members the CHAIRMAN moved that the Committee's report and Secretary's accounts be passed.
